

Basic Web Search

1.1 Introduction

Hi! I'm here to tell you about finding things on the Internet. The Internet brings together information from all over the world, which is a lot of information.

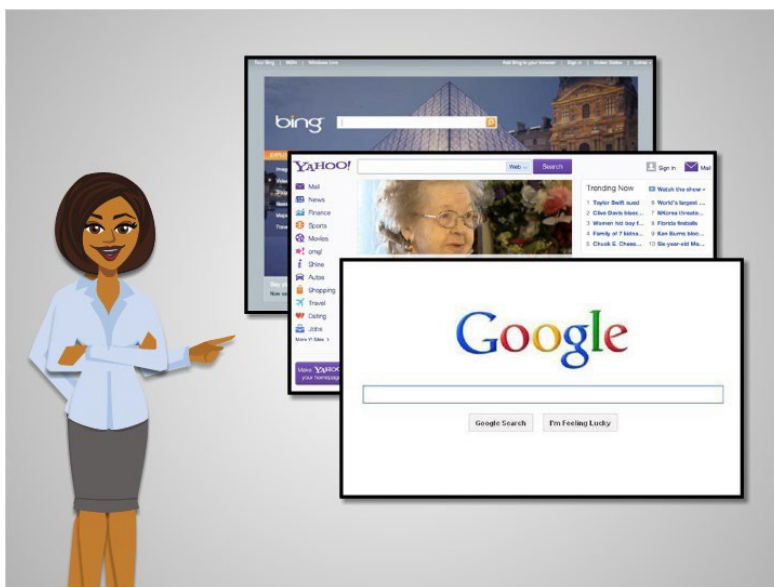

Today, we will follow along with Michelle as she uses a search engine to look up information on Chicago

1.2 Yellow Pages For The Internet

So, what is a search engine? A search is a website that you can use to lookup web pages. It's kind of like a Yellow Pages for the Internet, When you enter a key word in a search engine the search engine will look through the billions of webpages to help you find the ones you were looking for.

1.3 Different Types Of Search Engines

There are many different kinds of search engines made by different companies. The most popular ones are Bing, Yahoo, and Google.

Each of the search engines have their own individual ways for organizing information so the results can vary from one search engine to another.

1.4 Things You Can Look Up On A Search Engine

What are some of things you can find with a search engine?

Well, almost anything. Michelle uses Google to search for all kinds of information in her day-to-day-today life. She can look up the weather, get the news, find a recipe, look up movie times, define words and more. Right now, Michelle wants to find more information on Chicago, a city she's going to visit on vacation.
